OIL SHIP BLOWS UP!

50 Hurt; Fear Many Dead in Fall River

FALL RIVER, May 25—At least 50 persons were burned or injured when the 400-foot Shell Oil Company oil tanker, the S.S. Elwood, blew up at its dock here today. It is feared many are dead.

The number of lives lost was impossible to immediately determine. Company officials and Chief Dennis D. Holmes of the Fall River fire department said that "probably" several of the members of the crew were killed by the blast.

Fear of a second explosion from full tanks forward in the ship held rescue parties back. The entire afterpart of the vessel was swept by flames so fierce that it would have been suicidal to attempt to board the Elwood at that point.

At least one of the injured who was brought safely to shore was so badly burned that doctors said he will die.

The explosion rocked buildings in Fall River, and the black column of smoke that shot up was visible for miles.

Motorists and pedestrians on Brightman street bridge, near which the oil tanker was moored, were showered with blazing debris.

The flames from the burning oil tanker spread quickly to the dock, hampering the approach of fire apparatus and menacing other shipping and nearby buildings.

RUSH AMBULANCES

The entire city police and fire departments were rushed to the scene, along with ambulances from Fall River and Union hospitals.

According to witnesses, the explosion seemed to originate below decks on the afterpart of the vessel. One report was that it originated with an explosion in the ship's engine-room.

As the flames and smoke shot up, members of the crew of the tanker rushed pellmell to the sides and dived overboard into the water. When fire boats and land apparatus arrived, the entire afterpart of the ship was in flames.

Firemen battled heroicly in effort to prevent the flames from reaching the forward part of the tanker, where more oil was stored.

Captain of the Elwood is Fred Gower. Whether he was a casualty could not immediately be ascertained. The explosion carried away the Elwood's superstructure and the captain's quarters, but whether Captain Gower was in his quarters at the time was not known.

Identification of members of the ship's crew, at the hospitals, was slow. Among those who, hospital authorities said, were "in no danger," were:

Leonard Epstein, Hillside avenue, Washington Heights, New York.

Stanley Gorski, Franklin avenue, Kewanee, Wisconsin.

Anthony Brzowski, no address.

Fear that a second explosion would result if the flames reached the forward part of the burning oil tanker resulted in police and firemen clearing a wide area around the dock.

HITLER WREATHS DECK COFFINS

50,000 MOURN AT SUDETEN RITES

EGER, Czechoslovakia, May 25 (AP)—Fifty thousand Sudeten Germans lining the streets of this ancient town today bowed in silent tribute as coffins of two of their fellows, killed in last Saturday's border shooting, passed in solemn procession—each coffin bearing a wreath from Adolf Hitler.

All shops of Eger, called the most German city in Czechoslovakia, were closed during the funeral. Black flags fluttered from windows of centuries-old houses.

Order was preserved along the cobble-stoned streets by Sudeten German party men in uniform.

Reinforcements consisting of 200 Czechoslovak gendarmes were sent to Eger as a precaution, but on orders from the Praha government they remained in barracks subject to call in case of emergency.

Addressing the two dead men, Henlein said:

"Your sacrifice should be a permanent and silent sign to us."

He spoke at the public rites, which passed off without any trouble.

ATMOSPHERE TENSE

The funeral honoring Georg Hoffman and Nikolas Boehm, shot as they sped past a police barracks near the German frontier, was held in an atmosphere of tension that pervaded Czechoslovakia, and spread beyond its borders.

The military and air attaches of the German legation in Praha laid wreaths from Hitler on the caskets and expressed condolences to the families of the victims on behalf of the German government.

The wreaths were of fir, bound with scarlet ribbons, lettered "Adolf Hitler" and stamped with the eagle and swastika of Nazi Germany.

During the services in the tiny cemetery chapel within sight of the hills that mark the troubled frontier with Germany, not a Czech soldier or gendarme was in sight in the whole Eger area.

CROWDS SEE COFFINS

Members of the Sudeten Party and its voluntary protective service kept order and regulated the flow of traffic as crowds poured in on foot, in automobiles and on bicycles.

Everywhere hands were outstretched in the Nazi salute. An old woman, too ill to stand, lay on a bed in an open window with her feeble arm upraised.

Only relatives were allowed inside the chapel. But outside a throng of peasants stood in their rusty black clothes and saw the coffins, draped with red flags on which were printed in white, "SDP," the initials of the Sudeten Deutsche Partei, Henlein's followers.

Doom Church In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, May 25—The last stronghold of the Catholic church in Mexico—that at San Luis Potosi—apparently was doomed today in the face of collapse of General Saturnino Cedillo's revolution.

CHECKS FOE—President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico, who has suppressed revolt led by Saturnino Cedillo, former friend. New clash over move to restore religious freedom in peppery southern republic is now threatened.

Cedillo's uprising has been crushed and his forces are fleeing to the heavily wooded mountains where he fought as a bandit chieftain years ago, the War Ministry officially announced.

Fresh troops were ordered today into San Luis Potosi State and acted to cut off retreat of Cedillo northward through Tamaulipas.

President Lazaro Cardenas, at the same time, issued a proclamation asserting the revolution "lacks justification" and assuring rebellious Cedillistas "a life of honesty under full guarantees," if they lay down their arms.

It was also authoritatively stated that the government will launch anti-religious legislation for San Luis Potosi, closing its convents and Catholic schools. Cedillo had protected and fostered church activities there, where he was overlord.

War Planes Sink British Freighter

MADRID, May 25 (AP)—The 1251-ton British freighter Thorpehall was sunk today by Spanish Insurgent air raiders just outside the harbor of Valencia.

Two of four bombs dropped by seaplanes coming from the direction of the Insurgent-held island of Mallorca struck the British ship, anchored about a mile and a half from the harbor entrance.

One officer and one seaman were wounded but the entire crew was rescued.

Marching for Peace

International News Photograph Service.

2,000 Masses Hail Congress

BUDAPEST, May 25 (AP)—Devout prelates celebrated 2000 masses in this ancient, beflagged city today in solemn prelude to the opening session of the 34th Eucharistic Congress.

Seventy-one archbishops and 225 bishops accepted invitations to the Catholic congress. It was estimated 1,000,000 persons representing 37 foreign countries would see the ceremonies.

There were 1000 American pilgrims among them, led by Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia.

In 100 churches and chapels and in many private chapels of the aristocracy, foreign churchmen gathered for early services while the white and yellow Papal banner floated proudly from the turret of the royal palace, where Eugenio Cardinal Facelli, Vatican secretary of state, is the guest of Hungary's Regent, Admiral Nicolas Horthy.

The inaugural ceremony of the congress at 4:30 p. m. (6:30 a. m. EST.) had as its setting the great Heroes' square where a 150-foot altar was erected.

Today leaders of international literary and spiritual life honored the Holy Sacrament in the Redoute building. Cardinal Schuster, Archbishop of Milan, presided.

Boy Killed By Game He Loved

Little Johnny Ross' dream of becoming, some day, a big league ballplayer, was ended today.

The 12-year-old Wollaston boy was dead—killed by the game he loved.

Awaiting his turn at bat in a scrub game in a vacant lot near his home, John A. Ross, Jr., of 25 Oakland street, was struck under the heart by a wild pitch.

JUST ONE SHRIEK

One shriek escaped from his lips as he fell writhing to the ground. Then he lay still.

Radio Officer Ralph Lewis and John Sheehan, summoned by neighbors living near the field in Old Colony avenue, near Greenleaf place, failed to revive him and then took him to Quincy City Hospital.

There it was said by physicians that the boy had died almost instantly.

The mother had hurried to the hospital upon being informed of the accident. She collapsed when she learned he was dead.

A radio search then began for the father, who had left the home only 15 minutes before the tragedy to go to Herring pond, Plymouth.

FATHER FOUND

By radio and teletype the number of the father's car was flashed to police all along the South Shore and to Cape Cod, and the elder Ross was intercepted on Route 3. He turned and hastened to the hospital.

Ickes, Bride Tour

MRS. HAROLD L. ICKES

LONDON, May 25 (AP)—Secretary of Interior Ickes and his smiling red-haired bride, who is 39 years his junior, were expected in England today on a whirlwind honeymoon.

The secretary's plans were not disclosed after the surprise, secrecy-surrounded wedding in Dublin yesterday, but it was believed the pressure of his duties would force a return to Washington after a hasty trip to London and Paris.

Secretary and Mrs. Ickes outsmarted everyone, however, and lost themselves somewhere in the British Isles on the second day of their secret honeymoon.

FRIENDS WAIT IN VAIN

Friends and well-wishers in London met Irish boat trains but went home with their welcome speeches unspoken.

The bride's uncle, John Cudahy, United States minister to Ireland, did not attend the ceremony in a small Presbyterian church in Dublin.

So well had the romantic secret been kept that even the minister knew Ickes only as an American "civil servant and lawyer"—the blunt-spoken cabinet member's own description of himself when he signed the marriage register.

Mrs. Ickes, the sister of Mrs. Wilmarth Ickes, widow of the secretary's stepson, was a former employe in two of her husband's departments.

"GAY AND CHARMING"

As Miss Jane Dahlman, the 25-year-old Smith College graduate spent four months in the national park service gathering data on historic buildings and sites in 1935. Later she transferred to the reclamation bureau.

In Washington she will be the youngest Cabinet wife.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., May 25 (INS)—The body of a well-dressed middle-aged woman was found floating in the Connecticut river today by two fishermen.

4 Appointments Made by Hurley

Governor Hurley today submitted four nominations to his executive council for action.

The governor named John B. Nunes, New Bedford, for special justice of the third Bristol District Court, succeeding Charles P. Archambault, deceased.

The other three nominations, all reappointments, were:

John A. McGuire, Jr., Lowell, public administrator; J. Leo Sullivan, Peabody, trustee of the Soldiers' Home, and Edward N. Dahlberg, Brockton, master in chancery.

Girl Autoist Dozes, 4 Hurt

FALL RIVER, May 25—Dozing at the wheel, Irene Shand, 17, of South Dartmouth, rammed into a telegraph pole here today, critically injuring herself and three other passengers.

Those injured were:

Vane Laycock, 17, North Dartmouth, fracture of the skull; Dolay Thompson, 16, New Bedford, possible fractured skull and lacerations, and Ruth Spooner, 18, New Bedford, possible skull facture.

Miss Shand had a fractured skull and possible internal injuries.

'Prayed for Lord to Kill Him'

Brother Aids 'Love Slayer'

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—A wide-eyed, tow-headed boy of 13 came to his older brother's defense today as the state rested its first degree murder case against 16-year-old Donald Carroll, accused of killing his sweetheart, Charlotte Matthiesen, 18, last March in an uncompleted suicide pact.

The first defense witness, Carroll's younger brother, Douglas, marched to the stand and gravely told of coming home from school on the day of the shooting and hearing Donald crying.

"He was praying for the Lord to kill him," said Douglas.

When he entered the living room of their Jackson Heights home, the youngster said, he noticed his father's army pistol lying on the sofa.

"I didn't think that was a very safe place for it," he said, "so I took it into the kitchen and put it on a shelf."

STATE RESTS

The youthful defendant smiled for the first time since his trial opened when he saw his brother take the stand. Judge Thomas Downs had asked young Douglas if he knew "what happens when a boy swears before God to tell the truth and then doesn't tell the truth."

The question seemed to puzzle Douglas, but Judge Downs permitted him to testify.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph V. Loscalzo rested his case 25 minutes after the second day's testimony began. He made no attempt to elaborate on a statement read yesterday as young Carroll's own version of how he shot the Matthiesen girl after they had decided to die together because she was expecting motherhood.

One of the prosecutor's final witnesses, Dr. Alexander O. Gettler, chief toxicologist, caused a brief stir in the crowded courtroom by saying his examination of the dress worn by the girl when she was shot failed to show any evidence of powder burns.

MOTHER TO AID

The statement, attributed to Carroll, said she held the gun muzzle to her breast, while he pulled the trigger.

Under cross-examination by defense counsel Dr. Gettler acknowledge that blood would dissolve powder marks.

Defense counsel said he would call the dead girl's parents, who have expressed a desire to help the boy who killed their daughter.

"It is so easy now," said Mrs. Fred Matthiesen, "to see how this happened."

"Donald has always been a good little boy. It is so plain that they both wanted to die," said the sorrowing mother.

Dragged to Court

"PUPPY LOVE" SLAYER—Donald Carroll, 16-year-old boy who is accused of slaying Charlotte Matthiesen in an alleged suicide pact, is dragged to court by Deputy Sheriff Conrad Strebel on stairway of New York Supreme Court.

Striking Pupils Spurn Appeal

NANTUCKET, May 25—Adamant in their demand for reappointment of two teachers being miscissed next month after three years service, 65 of the 200 boys and girls high school students on this island remained on strike today.

The striking students turned down an appeal of Mrs. Gabrielle Griek, member of the school committee, to return to their studies.

Mrs. Griek spoke a half hour to the students, assembled in Main street.

Renting a hall by public subscription, the students staged a mass demonstration last night and disregarded advice of both discharged teachers and more than 400 parents and other grownups to return to classes.

The strike started yesterday in protest against failure of the school committee to reappoint Miss Edith Thompson, commercial teacher, and Clyde G. Fussell, social science instructor, both natives of Vermont.

Tells How U. S. Spaniards Beg in France

Stating that there are scores of Americans, lately of the Loyalists army in Spain, stranded in Paris, Philip Wadsworth of Charles street arrived here today on the liner Excalibur.

"Many of these Americans have had to resort to begging in Marseilles street," he said. "The majority of them are desperate in their endeavor to attain a means of getting home."

Several attempted to hide away on the Excalibur, Wadsworth stated.

Also on the passenger list of the liner, which just completed a six-weeks cruise of Mediterranean ports, was a direct descendant of General Thomas Gage, of Bunker Hill fame, Lieutenant-Colonel Percival G. Elgood, of the British army, and Mrs. Elgood.

Elgood is a noted historian. He expressed a desire to see Bunker Hill monument and the scene of the famous Boston Harbor Tea Party.

Baron H. K. de Bildt, of Cairo, Egypt, former Swedish minister to Egypt, landed here en route to San Francisco to attend a Rotarian convention.

Hurley Signs 75 Millions State Budget

Governor Hurley today signed the State's general appropriation bill, appropriating $71,731,722.22 from general and highway funds, and $3,685,180 from Metropolitan District funds—a total budget of $75,416,902.22.

The Governor took no action on the bill, still awaiting he signature, to distribute $8,000,000 to cities and towns for highway work to relieve unemployment. He still has five days to act on this, however.

Governor Hurley voiced brief comment on the general appropriation bill.

"This bill," he said in part, "is based on budget recommendations which I submitted to the legislature on January 26, with the exception that the legislature has not seen fit to grant my request to set aside the sum of $1,000,000 for the relief of unemployment."

Some State House observers saw in this a veiled threat to veto the $8,000,000 distribution bill. Democratic leaders object to the measure in that it would place the distributed work relief funds in the hands of city and town officials, most of whom throughout the state are Republicans.

MILLS' EX-AIDE SUICIDE

MILLBRAE, Cal., May 26 (INS)—Death of Randolph Longwell, 39, former business assistant of the late Ogden Mills, secretary of the treasury in the Hoover administration, today was termed a suicide by police. Longwell was found hanging from a rope tied to a tree branch behind the Mills home.

Surrenders In Chelsea Slaying

Anthony Capabello, 53, of Division street, Chelsea, was held without bail today, in Chelsea District Court, as alleged slayer of Joseph Perrotta, 43, also of Chelsea.

The latter was fatally shot, Tuesday morning. He was found dying in an alley, off Williams street, Chelsea. Capabello surrendered at Chelsea police headquarters, ending a 48-hour search.

He was immediately arraigned before Judge Paul J. MacDonald, who accepted a temporary not guilty plea and continued the hearing to June 2.

They said he will admit shooting Perrotta, but will claim self-defense. Perrotta allegedly attacked him.

Fuchs, Green 'Ill,' Gift Job Probers Told

"Illness" swept the ranks of prospective witnesses at the joint legislative committee's investigation of political gift jobs in the Unemployment Compensation Commission today.

Attorney Warren Patten, the legislative committee's counsel, gravely announced:

1—That he had received a letter from Civil Service Commissioner Thomas E. Green's physician, to the effect that Commissioner Green is ill in bed, and therefore unable to testify at the inquiry.

2—That Chairman Emil Fuchs of the Unemployment Commission itself is "in a canitarium," and therefore likewise unable to testify.

RAPS RECORD "HUNT"

Also, Attorney Patten charged various officers and employes of the Unemployment Commision seem to have been stricken by blindness and paralysis, or something.

They "can't find" the commission's records, or tehy're too weak or something to carry them over to the State Houes so the legislative committee can look at them, Patten said.

"It's high time the commission produced the correspondence and records we've asked for," Patten declared. "This is the sixth or seventh time we've demanded they be brought over, and they're not here yet."

"Plenty of violations" occurred in the appointment of job-holders in the unemployment compensation commission "through political preference," Dean Henry Wyman Holmes of Harvard school of education testified at the hearing today.

SAYS LAW VIOLATED

Dr. Holmes is chairman of the advisory council of nine unpaid members set up in a 1935 state law that established the Unemployment Compensation Commission.

"If appointments were made by subterfuge, not from civil service lists, but by people seeking political preference, isn't that violation of the law?" Dean Holmes was asked by Warren Patten, attorney for the legislative committee.

"It certainly is," said Dr. Holmes.

"In your opinion was the law violated in making wholesale appointments through political preference?"

"It certainly was."

Dr. Holmes, questioned by Patten on the attitude of the UCC to the advisory council, said it was "extremely non-co-operative."

Frail Widow Again Whips Tommy So Court Can See

NEW YORK, May 25 (INS)—Tommy Bradley, 16, today got what the magistrate ordered . . . a beating. But he got it twice.

Magistrate Overton Harris had told the frail widowed mother, Mary Bradley, that if she didn't whip Tommy so that the welts still showed on Thursday, when Tommy will be back in court for sentencing, he would have to go to jail. He'd been arrested for pulling an emergency cord in a subway train.

So yesterday morning Mrs. Bradley took a leather belt, called him into the bathroom, and gave him at least a dozen lashes. Tommy was crying when she had finished. So was Mrs. Bradley.

"You see," she said, "he's really a good boy. And I know he didn't intend to do anything wrong and he's never been in trouble before."

When Tommy got home from school, the welts were beginning to disappear. So the second whipping was agreed upon by Tommy and his mother. And it was public. It was inflicted before many of the neighbors, who had arrived to offer their sympathy to Mrs. Bradley. Again Mrs. Bradley used the belt. She expended all her strength with each blow. And when she had finished she put her head on her arms on the kitchen table and sobbed.

Tommy was crying again, too.

Jail Dorchester Man for Contempt

Simon Brasslow, of Maxwell street, Dorchester, was sentenced to 30 days in jail today on a charge of contempt in Brookline court before Judge Joseph R. McCoole.

The contempt charge was based on a separate support petition granted Mrs. Ida Brasslow, of Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester, January, 1938. Brasslow is $490 in arrears.

Ask Tobin Aide To Run for G.O.P.

Republicans of Massachusetts are fed up with primaries held only to designate a candidate for the November slaughter, Richard Whitcomb, chairman of Mayor Tobin's City Hall survey committee, declared today.

At the same time Whitcomb confirmed reports that he may seek the gubernatorial nomination of that party next September.

"A great many people have recommended that I seek the Republican nomination for governor," he said. "It is apparent that the Republican rank and file would welcome a candiate who they felt could win in November. They are apparently fed up with primaries held only to designate a victim for the November slaughter."

Hitler Sends 'Stern' New Warning to the Czechs

which Czech planes were alleged to have crossed the frontier in violation of international ethics.

As the instructions went forward, the Nazi press unleashed a new barrage of charges against Czechoslovakia, accusing Prague of "provocation" and criticizing Great Britain for accepting the Czech version of the crisis.

The protest coincided with reports that Adolf Hitler had sent another stern warning to Prague against further violence likely to involve the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia, whose autonomy he is seeking.

Eisenlohr's protest will embrace these allegations:

1—A Czechoslovakian military biplane, equipped with a machine-gun, crossed the German border west of Eger, scene of the killing of two Sudenten Germans last Saturday, and passed over German towns at a low altitude.

2—Another Czech plane, also armed, crossed the frontier southwest of Sittau, near Grosschoenau.

3—A third plane cruised over Hinterhersdorf for 20 minutes, presumably surveying German troop movements and fortifications.

GREAT CONCERN

4—A fourth plane swept over many square miles of German territory in the vicinity of Klindenthal, flying at a low altitude.

(German official news agency dispatches from Vienna said the "invasions" were brought to six when two more Czech planes violated the border.

(German frontier guards said a Czech biplane was sighted near Juedensteigen, north of Vienna, and flyers photographed a dyke along the March river.

(Another Czech plane allegedly flew over German soil at 6:55 p. m. near Unterretzbach.)

Eisenlohr was instructed to point out that the Czech military activity had caused great excitement and concern among the German population.

Specifically, it was reported, Hitler told Czechoslovakia that the Reich would tolerate no repetition of the pre-election violence, which resulted in the deaths of two pro-Nazi party members.

Barricaded Wife Wins 'Castle'

Today's Quincy court skirmish in the "house-siege" marital battle between the Hannafords of Braintree resulted in victory for the wife.

Bigamered for three months in the Hannaford home in Grove street, South Braintree, Mrs. Mary Hannaford, through her counsel, was successful in staving off a warrant charging her with trespass.

Today that, but Judge James A. Mulhall continued the case to June 7, ruling she may remain in the home provided she gives a representative of her husband, Thomas, building and personal property.

Mrs. Hannaford did not go to court, in person, to fight the trespass warrant application, because she feared, her husband might seize the house, were she to leave.

Only Mrs. Hannaford's lawyer and Hannaford himself, a man six feet five inches tall and weighing 250 pounds, were in court on the application by Hannaford for trespass warrant.

Proceedings were carried on at a bench conference, at which Judge Mulhall was told that the wife charges Hannaford with shooting her dog and having the electricity shut off in the house.

While the court case was on, Mrs. Hannaford received Boston Evening American reporter in the home she has held for weeks.

You'll go for EAGLE HOOK LINE and SINKER

FRED, WHAT GIVES THAT EAGLE WHISKEY YOU HAD UP AT THE HOUSE, SUCH A DIFFERENCE IN TASTE? IT'S THE SMOOTHEST WHISKEY I EVER TASTED!
WELL, I'LL SHOW YOU RIGHT HERE — SEE THAT BOTTLE... AND THAT BOTTLE.....
— AND THAT BOTTLE... AND THAT BOTTLE...
OH, THOSE ARE THE FINEST WHISKIES IN AMERICA... THE GREAT BONDED WHISKIES...
EXACTLY... AND THE PEOPLE WHO MAKE THEM ARE THE SAME PEOPLE WHO MAKE EAGLE.
GOSH, FRED, EAGLE OUGHT TO BE BETTER!
AND IT IS, TOO! YOU GET YOURSELF A BOTTLE OF EAGLE AND YOU'LL GO FOR IT HOOK, LINE AND SINKER! IT'S THE SMOOTHEST BLEND THERE IS!

YOUR GUIDE TO NATIONAL DISTILLERS GOOD LIQUORS

If you haven't tasted National's Eagle yet, do it TODAY! It's as mild as any whiskey you ever drank. And smoother, we think, thanks to the old American blenders' skill . . . but what makes the real difference in any blend are the whiskies the blenders start with.

And when you realize that the same people who make Eagle also make America's great bonded whiskies, you can see why Eagle SHOULD taste better! It's that pre-war whiskey taste! That "extra whiskey flavor" as one man puts it. Try Eagle! And remember . . . Eagle at its price is America's greatest whiskey value!

See Confidence Recovery Key

Special to Boston Evening American

CHICAGO, May 25—In a series of interviews given in Chicago today, a group of national leaders of industry were virtually unanimous in stating that a rebirth of confidence between business and government is the supreme need for the restoration of prosperity.

The interviews were obtained immediately after a luncheon meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers at the Chicago Club.

All speakers agreed that the essential elements of business recovery and re-employment are at hand, with the exception of the needed confidence.

Here are the interviews:

Charles R. Hook, president of the association, and president of the American Rolling Mill Company, Middleton, O.:

"More self-reliance and less leaning on the government is the need of the hour. Private enterprise, based upon individual incentive, alone can provide the permanency of jobs and security which every American seeks."

William B. Warner, chairman of the association's board, and president of the McCall Corporation, New York city:

"We have within our grasp the elements to go forward, if government will stop obstructing business and co-operate, instead of constantly changing its course with the resulting confusion to those who must plan their company policies in advance."

Robert L. Lund, executive vice-president of the Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, and former N. A. M. president:

"The greatest national liability today is the lack of public understanding of the true functioning of the business system.

Kennedy Host To King's Foes

LONDON, May 25 (AP)—United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy entertained ladies of His Majesty's opposition at a stag dinner to get both sides of the British political picture.

The late Ambassador Robert W. Bingham held a similar dinner last year, reportedly at President Roosevelt's suggestion.

Strike Three!

Quincy's park department expenses are O. K., declared City Auditor Leo E. Mullin today, but as for baseball umpires—well, they're out of luck. Mullin said he would refuse any bills for umpires out of the $100 appropriation voted last week. He took his stand following protests this sort of expense would be illegal.

Alaskans Arm To Bar Jap Boats

SEATTLE, May 25 (AP)—Angry Alaskan fishermen prepared to arm today to fight encroaching Japanese boats in one of the world's richest fishing areas.

The Pacific Coast Codfish Company anounced it would dispatch 24 high-powered rifles and "plenty" of ammunition to its crews aboard two American ships in the Bristol Bay area of the Bering Sea in response to wireless appeals for arms.

Threat of open warfare between American and Japanese fishermen spread quickly on the Seattle waterfront. The Alaskan fishermen's union announced it would send immediate reinforcements aboard the ships Mt. McKinley and LaMerced today for southwestern Alaska.

"We will not fool any longer with this Japanese situation," William Hicker, secretary of the union said.

"The fishermen are angry and will take action to drive the Japanese out. Our men going north will be ready for action."

He said he had been advised there were 15 Japanese boats within eight miles of the American shore.

Japan recently promised the U. S. not to fish for salmon in the Alaskan area but the agreement did not apply to crab fishing outside the three-mile limit.

Seafaring men said they knew of no law authorizing fishermen to arm and shoot, nor of any law to prevent them shooting on the high seas beyond the three-mile limit.

Japan Forcing China to Russia, Hopper Says

Japan is forcing China economically towards Russia, Bruce C. Hopper, associate professor of government, at Harvard, said today.

"Through the heavy veil of war secrecy," Professor Hopper said, "reports from various reliable sources indicate that China is carrying out a vast road-building program.

"Two hundred thousand coolies are working on a great highway from Burma in the south to Yunnan. A million coolies are extending the trunk highway from the Turk-Sib railway on the Siberian border of Sinkiang to Lanchow, Kansu, on to Szechwan.

"One of the greatest events in centuries will occur when rapidly developing China is connected with Russia on the north and Burma on the south.

"At present, the Red Basin of Szechwan is being opened up, refugees from the war zones are swarming there and being allotted land, and industries are being developed."

One of the great tasks of the industrial world for the next 50 years, Professor Hopper predicted, will be "the reconstruction of China, not only the new areas of western China, but also the areas of the coastal plain which have been devastated."

Japanese Take Rail Center

SHANGHAI, May 25 (INS)—Japanese forces, led by General Terauchi, today announced the capture of Lanfeng, railroad and river city listed as a major objective in Japan's drive toward Hankow, Chinese provisional capital.

With this victory achieved after days of terrific fighting, Japanese column began closing in on Chengchow, the next objective.

While the slashing Japanese offensive proceeded in the north, it was authoritatively reported in Shanghai that General von Falkenhausen will defy Chancellor Hitler's order that he and other German military advisors to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek must drop their posts with the Chinese army.

Foes Attack Franco's Lines

HENDAYE, France (at the Spanish Frontier) May 25 (AP)—The government's major offensive to crack the Insurgent front in Catalonia developed into frontal attacks today against Sort, Tremp and Balaguer, key points in General Franco's lines in northeastern Spain.

The drive, now in its fourth day, was the greatest government offensive since the capture on December 22 of Teruel, lost two months later.

Heaviest pressure was exerted at Remp, captured by Insurgents April 5. The town is the the location of vital hydroelectric plants which formerly furnished Barcelona industries with power.

REJECTS "RENO PLAN"

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, May 25 (AP)—Governor Blanton Winship has balked a plan whereby Puerto Rico might try to surpass Reno as a divorce mecca. He vetoed a bill fixing 15 days as residence requirement, declaring the island did not want to attract that kind of people.

Spain Recruit Curb Offered

GUSTAVE KLIEGER

KARL REED

Their Stories Arouse Protest

Americans who enlist with the Loyalist forces in Spain should be automatically deprived of their citizenship, Congressman John W. McCormack declared today in a telephone interview from Washington.

Such legislation, he said, would curb Communistic recruiting of American youths, particularly in cities such as Boston and New York.

SENDS AMERICAN

Demanding immediate investigation by the United States of this recruiting, the Congressman sent copies of the Boston Evening American containing exclusive stories by Alvin Halpern of Dorchester, former Communist recruit and Loyalist captain, to Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Congressman McCormack also sent Hull the Boston Evening American stories of two youths whose bitter experiences as fighters in the Spanish government army forced them to desert.

These youths, Karl Reed, 22, of Hamilton, N. J., and Gustav Klieger, 21, of New York, were arrested on a charge of vagrancy when the ship docked here but later were sent home.

Congressman McCormack declared that the testimony of these three men prompted him to make his demands not only to Hull, but also to Attorney-General Cummings and Secretary of Labor Perkins.

"The testimony of these men is indicative of the organized international conspiracy of Communism to obtain enlistments in the United States of American citizens," he said.

"The best immediate solution is to expatriate those Americans who insist, through Communistic propaganda, on fighting for a foreign country. All along the eastern coast, sympathy is being insidiously aroused for the Loyalist cause, and recruiting for a foreign war is a daily occupation."

Commenting on attempts by certain forces to change the United States attitude on the Spanish War through allowing the exportation of arms to the Loyalists, the congressman said:

UNFRIENDLY ACT

"Such a change would be interpreted in other countries as an unfriendly act—even an act of war. There is no sense in changing the rules in the middle of the game.

"We have all we can do to preserve our own democracy and solve our own problems of government without being active sympathizers for foreign causes."

News Briefs

NEW HAVEEN, Conn., May 25 (INS)—Wells McMaster, 73, prominent in Connecticut manufacturing circles, was dead today in St. Petersburg, Fla., according to word received here.

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The Rhode Island congressional delegation said today the President had approved a Works Progress Administration project totaling $12,840 for construction of sidewalks and curbs in Warren, R. I.

TOKYO, May 25 (AP)—There were indications today that Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye was considering reconstruction of his cabinet, with the possibility that Foreign Minister Koki Hirota, War Minister General Gen. Sugiyama and Admiral Mitsumasi Yonai, naval minister, might be replaced.

LONDON, May 25 (AP)—Japan protested to Britain today against the remarks of a government spokesman in the House of Commons, deploring the shooting of Chinese prisoners by Japanese naval detachments at Amoy.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 25 (INS)—The cabinet council today decreed capital punishment for any person found guilty of attempting to take the life of King Carol or other members of the royal family.

BRADFORD, Pa., May 25 (AP)—A citizens committee today offered $1000 for the safe return of four-year-old Marjory West, or $1000 reward for the recovery of her body. The girl has been missing over two weeks.

TRENTON, N. J., May 25 (INS)—A penalty of 15 years in prison for persons participating in sit-down or stay-in strikes was recommended today by the state Senate.

Find Canoe, Fear Quincy Boys Drown

Two missing Quincy brothers, sought since yesterday, drowned when squall overturned their canoe in Quincy Bay, police believed today.

Hope that the youths, Berwick Chandler, 24, and Chester Chandler, 20, might have reached shore in safety, virtually was abandoned by authorities today after searchers found the canoe the brothers had hired.

The frail craft, battered and waterlogged, was floating off Hangman's island.

Boston and Quincy police assisted coast guardsmen in a thorough search of Hangman's and Rainsford islands.

No trace of the missing brothers could be found.

The youths were last seen when they rented a canoe yesterday afternoon at a boathouse at Black Creek, Quincy.

'Candy' Burns, And Why Not!

Shirley Skinner, 2½, and Marian Callahan, 4, both of Blaine avenue, Allston, were playing around some ash cans today when they found a box containing some white pills.

"Candy!" said little Shirley, and promptly popped one of the pills into her mouth.

Little Marian did likewise.

A moment later, Marian, not liking the taste, spit her pill out, but little Shirley bit through hers—and screamed.

The pills, it was found later, contained a deadly poison. Both children were rushed to City Hospital. Shirley's mouth was burned, but doctors said neither was in danger.

Boat Fire Fatal At Gloucester

GLOUCESTER, May 25 (AP)—Myles Gallagher, 41, of Maplewood avenue, member of the crew of the mackerel seiner Old Glory, perished today in a fire aboard the craft at her pier.

Gallagher, alone on board, was found in the engine room. Medical Examiner Ira B. Hull said he had suffocated.

Two explosions and fire caused damage estimated at $3000 and destroyed the craft's seine.

False Records Hit by Morgan

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Arthur E. Morgan charged today that two Tennessee Valley authority directors—H. A. Morgan and David E. Lilienthal—participated in falsifying a report on TVA negotiations for the purchase of utility properties owned by the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation.

EXPLICIT FALSIFICATION

"The news release was an explicit falsification, the natural result of which was to deceive the public on a vital issue, to engineer increased public bitterness toward the utilities and to substitute conflict and recrimination for open and aboveboard dealing with the facts," Morgan said, adding:

"Both the other directors were deliberately and consciously parties to this falsification."

SOLE NEGOTIATOR

Lilienthal, Morgan said, "continued to Mr Willkie as board policy that the TVA was committed to a position of unrestricted competition with private utilities), and announced decisions in line with this policy, when, in fact, no such policy ever had been adopted by the board."

"Mr. Lilienthal personally conducted the negotiations with Mr Willkie of the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation, the witness asserted.

"From certain incidents which had occurred in these and similar negotiations, I came to doubt whether Mr. Lilienthal's reports to the board were fully representative of what took place during those negotiations."

I knew Alexander Rose belonged to the Elks and I was anxious to find out if he was a good man. I knew he [illegible] and was a good citizen.

EVER SEE HIM?

"I didn't know which Alexander Rose it was," said Dolan in response to the prosecutor's reading.

Q—Who told you he felt favorable? A—No one. I knew, if he knew me, he would be likely to be favorable.

Q—Didn't you say yesterday you knew he felt favorable? A—Yes.

Q—Was that the truth? A—I may have said that.

Q—Do you know he felt favorable? A—No, not absolute knowledge.

Q—You didn't pass on to counsel the name of Alexander Rose; that he was favorable? A—No sir.

Q—When was the last time you saw Alexander Rose? A—I don't know that I ever saw him.

Q—When was the last time you saw the name Alexander Rose? A—Years ago.

Q—What was the occasion? A—I don't know.

[illegible]

Q—So you cannot give to His Honor a single name of an individual whom you talked with about Alexander Rose? A—Only to my family.

Q—What was the occasion? A—Just talking with members of my family.

Q—Now, if as you testified already, you knew Rose felt favorable and was a good citizen what was the necessity of checking up with Butler? A—To make sure he did.

Q—Did you know all about Rose before you rang up Butler? A—No sir.

Slayer's Reward

PHILADELPHIA, May 25 (AP)—William Cunningham, a Negro who once killed a man who stoned his dog, got a reward today for being kind to animals—a $500 bequest in the will of Mary Craige Yarrow.

Cunningham served 27 years in the penitentiary for the slaying. He was pardoned last year.

GEORGE HOLLAND'S

Boston After Dark

By PAUL WHELTON

(Who always WANTED to be an Eagle Scout)

Muddy Morning Musings:

Can't even get top billing when you tuck a guy to sleep for one night . . . And Holland had to learn all over again to sleep nights when he went to the hospital . . . He counts horses, not sheep, when he tries to cork off . . . But this morning's slumber must have come a-lagging, what with all those encomiums ringing and that lei of carnations around his neck . . . The lei was fashioned by Eileen McCann, former Hub newspaper lass who now columns for the Honolulu Advertiser and certainly adds shapeliness to the beach at Waikiki.

Probably the three major heart-tugs at the party were [illegible] Jare Holland's tribute to Pat Joyce, the brief address by Gene Mc[illegible] and the sight of old Cy Young standing once more in the spotlight taking a bow . . . And Pat, the Holland's prime minister was [illegible] thought of authoring a tome, "Love a Loon and Like It." Took care her emotion by slipping over and hugging Gertrude Dolan, who already was having thrills watching some of her ex-dance pupils, now [illegible] troupers, perform in the entertainment class . . . Us gals [illegible]

Jottings:

Don't look now, but if you ask this party, it's certainly a cinch way to get out a "Boston After Dark" column—gather all the highpoints of the town together in one hall and feed 'em . . . You could almost have called a session of the Legislature or the city council and got quorums . . . You could have slain someone at the party, got arrested by Police Commissioner Timilty personally, with a hatful of captains, lieutenants, sergeant and brevet-dicks aiding . . . Bill Foley the D. A., was present with his aides to rustle up a neat bill of complaint, a small regiment of lawyers were there to defend you and there were any number of judges to sit . . . Then there was Gov. Hurley, with power to refuse your commutation or something.

What we're getting at is that [illegible] a representative gathering of Boston After Dark [illegible] it was a pre-view of [illegible] scene right for the first [illegible] and all [illegible] Broadway Holland [illegible] was [illegible] Just [illegible] own at [illegible] long [illegible]

Life's a Funny—Etc.:

Just a year before the party, May 24, 1937, Stanley Holland reached the worrying stage on his berth in St. Elizabeth's, after being bedded down 12 weeks, Governor's Councillor Dan Coakley sat cheering him up, the wife of this scribener enjoyed one of Doc. Fred Good's Grade-A operations at City Hospital and she and Geo exchanged sassy telegrams . . . Last night Geo and the Lady sat a half-gross of sourspoons from each other, while Dan Coakley reposed in Carney Hospital, convalescing from surgery.

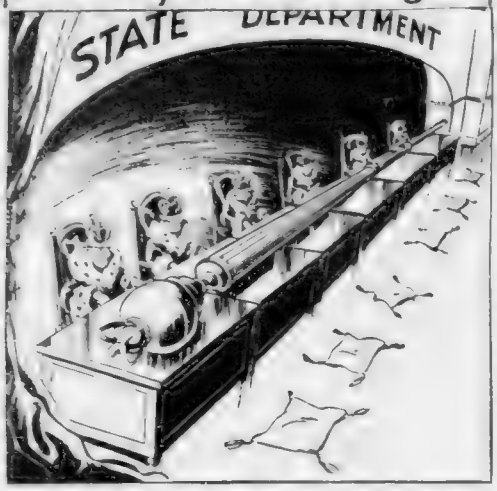
'Every Man a King'



The Editor Says:

"Every man a king" is [illegible] a dream in the State Department at Washington. There, a [illegible] group of international [illegible] professors are ruling the nation's [illegible] with more authority than the average crowned head of Europe or Asia exercises over his dominion.

[illegible] and the era of enriching workers in foreign [illegible] at the expense of jobless men and women in our own [illegible] George N. Peek, former foreign trade advisor to President Roosevelt, gives us good advice. He says:

"In order to avoid [illegible] consistent and effective foreign trade [illegible] the present 50 or more organizations in our government [illegible] dealing with foreign trade activities should be tied [illegible] and such function under a REVITALIZED tariff Commission.

"This Commission should in effect be made a permanent board of foreign trade composed of men EXPERIENCED in various fields of agriculture, industry, transportation, finance and government.

"These men should come from various sections of the country in order that each section and the country as a whole would be represented."

Congress ought to listen to that common sense. The United States has been a Santa Claus to the low-standard nations of the world long enough. It is high time we faced the fact that twelve million of our people would like jobs.

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY revealed by Captain Avra Halpern, Worcester young man, in a Boston Evening American [illegible] series of articles, is brought to the attention of Congress by Representative McCormack of South Boston.

Among other amazing things, Captain Halpern told how he and other American youths were put aboard a ship in New York and by devious underground channels, were transported to Spain for service with the Red forces.

The fact was impressed on all such recruits, he said, that their training was ACTUALLY A PREPARATION FOR THE "REVOLUTION" IN AMERICA.

Our representatives in Washington should heed Mr. McCormack and look into the matter. Certainly Congressmen, sincere in their determination to avoid foreign entanglements, cannot [illegible] that people that only the United States to the extent of [illegible] for wars abroad.

No Christian man who loves his home and loves his family would [illegible] to a person who came to his door carrying a [illegible] in one hand and a bomb in the other.

No Congressman can be less concerned when as great a [illegible] government and threatens the safety of [illegible] hundreds of families.

PRAISE IS DUE [illegible] Massachusetts [illegible]. Thanks to the [illegible] by Attorney General Dever for the [illegible] mayors ousted.

[illegible] mayors have to worry about being [illegible] governors. Nor will Democratic mayors [illegible] of being ousted by Republican governors.

[illegible] and we say it again. The Governor's [illegible] to do without having to assume the additional [illegible] fitness or lack of fitness of heads of cities.

Let the people who elect mayors continue to be the judges. The power of impeachment is still in their hands. Let them use it when [illegible] to live up to expectations.

The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, May 25.

FOR [illegible] that are dark and for [illegible] that are very [illegible] the best New Deal [illegible] may be [illegible] as [illegible] as Ben Hur [illegible] but he has nothing on the Japanese who is a [illegible] [illegible]

Inasmuch as the navy [illegible] the following [illegible] from Bangkok published in the New York press on May 19

[illegible]

What [illegible] say nothing of the [illegible] are today going [illegible] in the jungles of Siam is a confession to build a Japanese canal across the Kra peninsula in Siam.

This would give Japanese warships and merchant vessels a short cut into the Bay of Bengal and would greatly bolster the strategic importance of the Great British base at Singapore.

The Japanese [illegible] was made very public six weeks ago when Siam [illegible] under British pressure to cancel [illegible] the application for the concession.

MAYBE that elephant hunt means that Japan is [illegible] means to bring some pressure of her own in Siam, to have the canal concession project reopened, and a deal upon favorable to her interests.

That the famous elephant hunt has a direct bearing on the canal is more than suspected here. But there is an even graver reason.

The Chinese government is rushing to completion at this time a fast-truck road, 800 miles in length from the head of navigation on the Mekong river to Yunnan-Fu.

This road runs [illegible] British Burmah and China proper but a long length of it runs close to the Siamese border in the very region where the elephant hunting is good.

IT ALSO appears that practically paralleling this truck highway, a new railroad is under construction to Yunnan Fu.

It further appears and this is one of Washington's most intriguing diplomatic mysteries at the moment that although this highway and this railroad are being built in British territory, they are being built by the Chinese government.

Chinese coolie labor is being used, the British furnishing material and engineers.

With this background the Japanese are certainly simple to expect people to believe that elephant hunt story.

The ways of the Japanese are dark—but their tricks are in vain.

What of Today, Tomorrow?

Pilot Predicts Plane For 100 Passengers

More than a decade ago, Winsor Harlow of the Fenway, sitting high aloft and with a motor thrumming before him, used to visualize airplanes bigger than the first steamships.

Winsor Harlow has since become better known as Pilot Mike Harlow and his vision is now on the way to fulfillment.

Today, this Inter-City Airlines chief gazes his vision in operation and yet future.

By PAUL WHELTON

Boston Evening American Staff Writer

Some day the world will see a Queen Mary on [illegible] plane of such [illegible] such power and such efficiency, that comfortable travel from New England even to the farthest ends of the earth will be but a matter of hours where now days are figured.

Such is the belief of one practical Boston flier who has been piloting all types of craft in and out of this territory for 11 years and who has seen flying develop from a game for devil-may-cares to a science of transportation.

"IN THE NEAR FUTURE I THINK YOU WILL SEE PLANES CARRYING AS MANY AS 100 PASSENGERS," says Winsor (Mike) Harlow, chief pilot for Inter-City Airlines at Boston Airport.

"YOU WILL SEE HUGE AIR BOATS. PLANES LARGER THAN THE FIRST STEAMSHIP OF MORE THAN 100 YEARS AGO ALREADY ARE ON THEIR WAY. IN FACT YOU'LL ULTIMATELY HAVE A QUEEN MARY ON WINGS.

"Flying is becoming and will continue increasingly, become mechanical.

"The day is not far away when we will have instrument landings and takeoffs. In fact a man will be taught to fly almost wholly on instruments.

"At present a man is taught merely to fly, with the instruments coming later.

"THE PRIME REQUISITE OF A GOOD PILOT IN THIS ERA IS TO LOVE FLYING. IN THE FUTURE HE ALSO WILL LOVE FLYING, BUT HE WILL BE MORE IN THE ROLE OF SHIP'S CAPTAIN.

"In my 11 years of flying I have seen the character and the type of pilot change amazingly.

"Originally the man in the cockpit was a daredevil. Now it is practically a scientist who is at the controls of the modern plane.

"He must know radio and be the possessor of a radio license.

"More and more technical knowledge is required of him, because so much of flying now is instrument flying.

"EQUIPMENT IN AVIATION IS CHANGING EVERY DAY, ALTHOUGH FUNDAMENTALLY FLYING IS THE SAME.

"Then, in addition to a pilot's knowing his compass, his radio and his aerial navigation, he must also be well versed in psychology in order to deal with the varying temperaments of his passengers.

"EVERY MAN WHO GOES INTO THE AIR IN CHARGE OF A SHIP MUST UNDERSTAND HOW TO CALM THE NERVOUS PASSENGER. A NERVOUS PASSENGER CANNOT HELP BUT MAKE FOR A NERVOUS PILOT.

"As aviation grows, the cost of aviation will lessen. Pilot flying, for instance, is a less expensive vocation to pursue today than it was in my apprentice period.

"I had to pay $25 an hour when I was training. TODAY THE SAME LESSONS ARE BUT $10 AN HOUR.

"Aviation at present is still more or less a luxury business, and I believe it always will be, [illegible] by a [illegible] tion type of traveling. You must pay for speed.

"OF COURSE, WHEN THE MARKET FOR AIRPLANES IS EXPANDED AND THE VOLUME OF OUTPUT INCREASES TO SOMETHING RESEMBLING AUTOMOBILE QUANTITY PRODUCTION, AIR SERVICE AND FLYING COSTS WILL BE LESSENED CONSIDERABLY.

"There is no longer any mystery in flying even to the average layman.

"There is an answer to everything connected with aeronautics, and a very definite answer.

"There [illegible] for every airplane crash of the past [illegible] to [illegible].

"The role of pilot is another danger as far as particularly thrilling. In my humble estimation I believe both elements are vastly over-emphasized.

"HOWEVER, THERE IS VASTLY MORE TO THE JOB OF PILOT THAN JUST FLYING THE AIRPLANE.

"BEFORE A TRIP IS UNDERTAKEN, THE WEATHER MUST BE CHECKED, THE CONDITION OF BOTH THE FIELD YOU ARE LEAVING AND THE FIELD OF YOUR ARRIVAL MUST BE ASCERTAINED, AND THERE ARE VARIOUS OTHER IMPORTANT POINTS THAT MUST BE CONSIDERED.

"However, the main thrill, if you must call it that—perhaps satisfaction would be a better word—is in the role of teacher watching his student take his first solo flight.

"IT'S THE THRILL ANY CONSCIENTIOUS TEACHER GETS IN ANY LINE WHEN HE SEES HIS PUPIL DEMONSTRATING THAT HE HAS LEARNED WELL.

"For myself, I have two definitely defined tasks as chief pilot for Inter-City Airlines.

"One is the instruction of students. The other is character flying. I go any place—any time. While my ordinary day is from 9 a. m. until dark, I am also on call at night.

"But—like most business men—I look forward to my day off each week."

Novel Flowery Cotton

ONE OF THE MOST danceable dresses in town . . . young and adorable, too! A flowered cotton of novelty weave fits like a dream, with a draped bra bodice and a tube-slim waistline. The white fluting may be old fashioned, but this is the dress in which to do your truckingest best! You'll love the way the puffed sleeves are fitted into the bodice, and the fact that the pointed neckline is square in back. It's a high back—but never mind, the lines of the frock are siren, through and through! Sizes 11 to 17. And around six dollars! For shopping information, phone Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, LIBerty 4000, weekdays until five, or write her at the Boston American.

Rose Oil Burnishes Dry Hair to Beauty

BY ARLINE GOULD

YOU CAN'T expect parched [illegible]

If [illegible] wash [illegible] dingy, [illegible] Whipp [illegible] pearls back to civilization or not, what you need is a new rose oil. It is the pride of a famous specialist who's saved more heads—of hair—than she can ever count.

For an oil, it is the lightest substance you can find—it is the helium of the oils. Though [illegible] penetrates, it is a [illegible] locking moisture [illegible] As a consequence your hair will pick up its sheen and suetre just about where it left off back in the days before [illegible] knew about permanents. And the [illegible] be one of hair-health, not one that sticks there through the sheer tenacity of ordinary oil.

[illegible] the nourisher delightfully. If your hair has known the devitalizing [illegible] use [illegible] treatment that also pays dividends in beauty the moment it's applied. The outdoor men in your family will [illegible] too.

An unassumingly bottled affair in a size to last a long time, is but 75 cents. You'll recognize the name of its maker as that of an authority. For all details, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days until five, or write her at the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Grow Long and Jewel-Like Nails

DEAR ARLINE I always thought my nails were fairly healthy, but when I tried to grow long glamorous ones they broke right off! What can I do to make them look like movie stars? After all, those gals must do something with their hands besides make [illegible]

—Phyllis L. D., Revere

DEAR PHYLLIS —You're right—most of them undoubtedly patronize the salon which has sent one of its chief representatives on from Hollywood to show you, and you, and you how to have extraordinarily long nails, gleaming like rare jewels! She's in a Boston shop for this week only, and you'll stand with mouth a-gape as she reveals all about the art of nail care. I hope and warmness you'd never find out yourself. She features a special set (just a little over a dollar) of the three necessary preparations. There's a base wax which helps the nail to breathe, nourishes and strengthens it, there's a remover and special polish. You'll probably not leave without a fourth bottle which finishes the nail with a [illegible] lustre that's glorious to behold! If you'd like to consult the young woman (you'll marvel at her nails) phone me at LIBerty 4000 for the name of the Boston shop, or write, inclosing a stamped, self addressed envelope. The set and leaflets will be available after she leaves this city. —ARLINE GOULD

"LOVE IN SWINGTIME"

"Biff" of Harvard Takes a Chance

What Has Happened:

Tommy Dorsey and his band are about to leave the South Station Boston. The last night the night became at a swank, Harvard dance. Tommy's secret, known as Biff Brown, had created a sensation with Dorsey's men when permitted to do a number with the Dorsey band. Biff begged the maestro to give him a chance to show what he could do, and Dorsey agreed but to wait until he received his permission.

It developed that Biff was a Harvard Varsity a Conservatory of Music student and was an admirer of the Dorsey's so much so that he was willing to swing and Dorsey permission in that direction. She introduced herself to Dorsey in the crowd and their spirited debate over swing and Biff's talent lasted until the train was about to leave.

Dorsey realized Biff's talent and invited him to join the band.

CHAPTER THREE

By Tommy Dorsey and George D. Lottman

That was the last I saw of Harriet and Biff until six months or so had passed. The pressure of work, which became heavier as my band gained in popularity, made me forget the troubles of this nice girl in love with a boy who couldn't decide between her and hot music.

The Hotel Lincoln job proved to be the turning point in the upward flight of my band to fame and recognition. Tin Pan Alley and the Broadway music world took a peek in which hundreds of band leaders fight for years to get.

There are more than 15 or 20 bands at or near the top but every musician struggles with might and main to get there.

For years, before we had [illegible] I had wanted to play [illegible] my band was primarily a [illegible] and I wanted [illegible] the cares of swing [illegible] the public had refused [illegible] swing or [illegible] we could [illegible] going over as well [illegible]

I resolved to make my band as [illegible] as possible. I still [illegible] Tom Mack, one of the [illegible] the outstanding [illegible] swing was still [illegible] Wanna and Only [illegible] wanting of Mack" became a household phrase [illegible] of swing.

STATE STREET NOTEBOOK

Lake Shore Mines report for the first nine months indicates results for the year ending June 30 will be about $4 per share . . . This with the previous higher grade ore has not been mined in the last quarter . . . With candid camera craze and foreign business holding up East man's full year earnings should be around $6 per share . . . About 40 per cent of company's profits is secured on its foreign business . . .

SUPPORT WANTED

The stock market has hung out the support wanted sign. Indeed it is not too much to say support needed. The downside resistance levels noted here earlier this week are in for a good testing and should get it before the week is out. They are not particularly impressive looking to us and not much is expected of them . . .

"Smoking Out" Worry

By Percy L. Crosby

WHEN YA GET BROODIN', YOURSELF, WHAT CAN YA DO ABOUT IT? IT JUST STAYS WITH YA. THAT'S ALL.
I DONT KNOW. WORRY IS LIKE SMOKE IN A ROOM. IF YOU DON'T LET IT OUT, IT'LL SUFFOCATE YA. ANY-BODY SEEIN' SMOKE IN THE ROOM, THE FIRST THING THEY DO IS OPEN THE WINDOWS AN' LET IT OUT, THEN THE FRESH AIR COMES IN. BUT WHEN IT COMES TO WORRY, THEY JUST WON'T OPEN THE WINDOWS OF THE MIND-THEIR EYES. NO, NOT THEM. THE MORE SUFFOCATED THEY GET, THE MORE THEY LOVE IT AN' THEY'RE AFRAID SOME OF IT IT'LL CREEP OUT.
SOME PEOPLE ARE SUCH BROODERS THAT THEY STUFF COTTON IN THEIR EARS FOR FEAR SOME WILL GET OUT THAT WAY. ANYWAY, IF A PERSON IS REALLY SINCERE ABOUT WANTIN' TO GET RID O'WORRY, THEY CAN DO IT BY THINKIN' OF A LOT OF OTHER THINGS AN' IF THEY KEEP THINKIN' OF ENOUGH THINGS, THEY WOULDN'T WANT THE WORRY BACK 'CAUSE IT WOULD BE TOO WEAK. TRY TO GET SMOKE BACK IN A ROOM ONCE IT GETS OUT AN' IT'S AWFUL WEAK. WELL, IT'S THE SAME WAY WITH WORRY.

Austen Lake Says

Reunion at Bees Field: McKechnie Gets Works

FORCE OF HABIT IS A FUNNY THING. There were times when the Bees and Bill McKechnie went to day dreaming yesterday and imagined that they were working for the same boss. During the early part of the ball game the Bees imagined they were on Bill's side and were rapidly giving him a ball game until they awoke in the eighth inning and scored the deciding three runs to win 10 to 9. And there were times when Bill in his bewilderment turned toward the Bees' cave instead of rooster strutting toward his own henroost in the right wing of the stands.

AUSTEN LAKE

Yes, Bill's old hired men finally gave him a spectacular licking in his first Boston reunion since he took the Cincinnati shilling. So last night he took his headache out in Boston Common and nursed it among the squirrels, as his been his wont in the old days.

But the story wasn't wholly in the ball game. The story was in the nostalgic prowl which Bill took around the premises which had been HIS premises for eight summers, until Mr. Paul Crosley undid his bankroll and skimmed off $30,000.

[illegible]

Ghost in a Rubbing Room

INQUISITIVELY HE WANDERED INTO the little alcove white-washed and reeking of stale wintergreen. This had been the combination store house, hospital and managerial sanctum during his administration. Now it was a rubbing room.

[illegible]

ejectural voice was booming again, "God knows I hate to quit . . ."

Outside a crew of janitors were sweeping up the litter of peanut shucks and cigaret stubs. The winter-killed, bald patches of last September's grass were gone, leaving the field lush-green and cropped like the lawn of a country club. And as Bill sighted over the emerald acres there was the presidential box beside the Boston dugout, where Judge Fuchs had quaked away ten summers, burning his cigars to a white ash and enjoying the uproar in his soul.

"He used to come in after the ball games . . ." murmured Bill cryptically, "and he said such things . . ."

Aloft in the press coop where [illegible] down like a [illegible] ampullets [illegible] Eddie [illegible] hat, Paul Shannon with his father goose features and the rowdy set of Ear-ache alley would be in [illegible] now.

"Licking in a Million"

NO MORE WOULD THE PAUNCHY FIGURE of O'bie O'Brien strut importantly over in his usher's uniform and, at the umpire's beck, cry history into his simple announcements. No more would Old Goldenrod Hank Gowdy warm up Boston pitchers in the distant bull pen.

The great grandstand, dismal as a carbarn, reared its hump-backed hulk to the incline where Bill and his crew of master minds had watched morning workouts. Savory smells of boiling frankfurts came from the kitchen where Bill and his official family had munched hot-handouts each noon. "They served fine corn on the cob . . ." said Bill.

Upstairs in the [illegible] varnish had replaced the drain smells of the old Fuchsian day. Bob Quinn presided over his stacks of files. Son John kept his schoolmaster's eye on the long hallway through the half ajar door. Bald and kindly Duffy Lewis counted his press passes and ran batches of colored tickets through the chopper. Within the inner office where Ed Cunningham had held court like a corn belt congressman and lived with his cigar box records, Bill loitered to exchange tactful nothings with his ex-boss. The chat was constrained and Bill tarried briefly.

And presently he was out on the third base lines, stamping around, jutting out his chin and exhorting his Reds to belt the stuffing out of his old playmates. Which they did, but not so completely as they got the stuffing belted out of them. And when Bill took his shower in the visitor's ear of the clubhouse, he vowed that he had received a welcome which would remain forever green in his memory. He called it "A licking in a million."

Ball Player Gets Revenge

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 24 (INS) [illegible] was told why Catcher Chico Hernandez of Bloomington's Three-I baseball club was fined $25.

Seems Chico was chucked out of a game May 15 by Umpire Al Schuflebern, and ever since had been plotting revenge.

Came his chance the day Schiefelbern was behind the plate while Chico was catching.

So Chico called for a fast ball.

The ball came sizzling in, Chico ducked, and Umpire Al was slapped in the stomach with a force like a pile driver. Chico was revenged.

Armstrong's Rise to Top Spectacular | Al Jolson's Cash Bought Contract

—By JACK CONWAY—

HENRY ARMSTRONG, 25-year-old colored sensation who will strive to lift Barney Ross' world's welterweight championship in a 15-round bout in the Garden Bowl at Long Island, N. Y., tomorrow night, has the amazing record of 37 straight victories. As Armstrong, who is world's featherweight champion, piled up this brilliant record, he stopped 27 opponents in a row.

Mr. Boston

Armstrong will try to win two titles this [illegible] bout with Ross tomorrow night. His [illegible] to clash with Lou [illegible] the coming summer in a contest [illegible] championship of the world [illegible]

If Armstrong winds up with three world's [illegible] featherweight, lightweight and welterweight crowns, he will go down as ring history's [illegible] most spectacular youngsters to ever perform in public.

Armstrong has had a colorful career since he was born in St. Louis on December 12, 1912, until he won the world's featherweight [illegible] from Petey Sarron last year. One of a family of 13 children Henry had to fight for existence almost from the time he was born. At the age of six his mother died, at 16 he was tossing a heavy hammer as a member of a section gang employed by a St. Louis railroad.

When Coach Harry Pyle announced his Bunion Derby, Armstrong entered. At the time Henry was employed in a bowling alley 12 miles from his home. He trained for the Derby by running from his home to the bowling alley and back each day a total distance of 24 miles.

Henry had a brother Harry, an amateur boxer, who didn't think much of Bunion Derbys. Harry induced his brother to forget about the Bunion Derby and go in for boxing.

At that time mixed bouts were not permitted in St. Louis, at [illegible] Henry was only able to get a couple of matches. With his brother he left [illegible] to Pittsburgh where he did some amateur boxing and then headed for the Coast where he continued his ring career.

Boxes With Mickey Walker

MICKEY WALKER invaded California with Jack Kearns, lead[illegible] per manager. Mickey was training for a bout, and needed a youngster as a sparring partner who possessed speed. Armstrong, who was without a manager at the time and who was training at Wanser's Gym, got the job.

Walker couldn't lay a glove on Armstrong. The speedy colored youngster was a gym sensation.

"We had better [illegible] up this kid and bring him back East with us," Walker said to Jack Kearns. "He looks like the real McCoy.'

"He's fast," admitted Kearns, "but we couldn't get him anywhere. Nobody wants to see a colored featherweight box. We would only end up with a lot of hotel bills."

Kearns had passed up a boxer who would have made him hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Walker [illegible] Armstrong with him [illegible] Los Angeles.

"Armstrong can lick any fighter in the world up to the middleweight class," Mickey told me when he was last in Boston.

ARMSTRONG later went under the management of Wat [illegible] who handled a number of Coast boxers. It was while boxing under the direction of Ross that Eddie Mead, who piloted Joe Louis to the world's heavyweight championship, and Al Jolson saw the spectacular Armstrong in action.

"That kid is going to become a champion," Mead told Jolson "He is a brilliant boxer, and a terrific body puncher. He will knock out all these featherweights."

"Buy him then," said Jolson.

"But I haven't got the money," answered Mead.

"I'll advance it to you," asserted Jolson.

Mead talked with Ross, and bought the latter's contract for Armstrong for $15,000 with money loaned to him by Jolson.

Under Mead's management Armstrong has become world's featherweight champion. Henry stopped Petey Sarron who had won the title from Freddie Miller.

Since Mead took over the management of Armstrong the latter has not seen [illegible] Time was in Tony Chavez on a [illegible] Armstrong later [illegible] Chavez out.

Considers Success "A Lot of Luck"

ARMSTRONG is modest, and considers his ring success "a lot of luck" [illegible] his way.

While Armstrong attended high school in St. Louis he was [illegible] but he has given up all thought of a [illegible] When he retires from boxing he plans to buy a farm and live a quiet life.

"I have had all the excitement I want," Armstrong stated recently.

Unlike [illegible] of the oldtime colored boxers, Armstrong [illegible] his ring earnings. He has been [illegible] and when he retires from the ring he will have [illegible] to enable him to live in comfort.

Admiral, Pompoon Renew War

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—Now that the match race with Seabiscuit has been cancelled, War Admiral will resume the schedule originally mapped out and back up with Pompoon for the three-year-old rivalry of 1937, in the classic Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park Saturday.

The $20,000 Suburban may not have the public appeal of the $100,000 War Admiral-Seabiscuit duel which was called off yesterday after Charles S. Howard, California owner of the Biscuit, reported his colt's condition to run Monday, but is likely to be just as good a horse race.

Pompoon owned by J. H. Louden of Philadelphia drew the [illegible] post in the Preakness in fact as [illegible] it has been drawn against the son of Man o' War from [illegible] to Belmont [illegible] since he started in his [illegible] parade last year.

The distance of a mile and a quarter, the same as for the [illegible] Handicap may be [illegible] one of War Admiral's [illegible] over Pompoon. The Admiral has been allotted top weight of 126 pounds and Pompoon 123.

Both are in top form. While preparing for the match race, War Admiral twice worked the distance in under 2:08. Pompoon, in his last start, won the mile and [illegible] events of the Dixie Handicap at Pimlico in track [illegible] equaling one of 1:36 4-5.

Besides the Suburban War Admiral will be pointed for the mile and an eighth of the $20,000 Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct, June 25, with Stagehand, conqueror of Seabiscuit in the Santa Anita Handicap, as one of his principal opponents.

Four days later, the Pimlico star will [illegible] for the $20,000 Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs. It's a heavy campaign but Trainer Jimmy Conway believes [illegible]

In one special bout Sandy Macdonald presents leader of the Arena [illegible] to the light heavyweight ranks, will make a defense against Jack Latimer, a newcomer to the [illegible]

Pat Wade who [illegible] defeated last week, is down for a bout with Dynamite Dunn, the battler from Northland.

The rest of the card includes Manuel Ortiz vs. Larry Ashe; Harry Forkenstein vs. Hall [illegible] Pasco vs. Ed McNeil and Buster Jones vs. Tony Papaleo.

Boxing Results

SANFORD, Me.—Buster Carroll, Lowell, Mass., defeated Jimmy Knight, Portland, six rounds. The men are welterweights.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Tommy Speigal, 153, Uniontown, Pa., knocked out Chief Baby Miller, 158½, Wheeling, W. Va., in seventh round of scheduled 10.

NEW YORK—Nat Dillin, 125½, New York, defeated Johnny Compo, 124, New Haven, Ct., eight rounds; Ambrose Logan, 139½, Holyoke, Mass., defeated Jimmy Murray, 140, Brooklyn, six rounds.

LOS ANGELES—Bob Pastor, 161, New York, knocked out Chuck Crowell, 212, Los Angeles (1).

ERRICKSON REGISTERS

With the high class talent he has at his disposal, Bill McKechnie will not be able to lift his head higher than a snake's stomach after his Reds put back a 9 to 1 lead at National League Field . . . The "boys" offered 200 to 15 on Cincinnati in the 6th inning but few were brave enough to wager a thin dime on the Bees . . . Then the supposedly weak hitting Bees went to town and, when the smoke cleared, the Stengelese were declared a 10 to 9 winner . . . Johnny Riddle had his first chance to show the local fans that he was a major league catcher . . . Try and tell any of the boys he's a "sugar basher" after that play he made at first base, which, in all probability, saved the day for the Bees . . . It's customary for catchers to go down and back up first base, but only a few of them are smart enough to cover first base as Riddle did when he doubled Frank McCormack . . . Dr. A. McK. FINEST QUALITY GENUINE WHITE BUCKSKIN

Everything now in Genuine Buckskin is a Genuine WHITE this year. Even Genuine White Buckskin shoes costing as much as $12 and $13 in the finest grades and custom makes can't be had for less in the country.

But for the same prestige as Regal Stores have always given Genuine White Buckskin Coast to Coast, Regal has made it possible for our customers, as well as all over Stores, to buy Regal Genuine White Buckskin Shoes just like other shoe manufacturers in America.

The finest quality Genuine White Buckskin used in Regal Shoes costs about 50% more than the average cotton upper calfskin used in most shoes. It makes the most expensive shoes and is very expensive for a cheap shoe.

And it is only the low price because we have discovered a real substitute for Genuine White Buckskin. It's pigskin and has easily cleaned like "suede" and looks as well next year as this year.

P.S. You can pay twice our price, and not get any better quality Genuine White Buckskin—and this year a good many would like to save the difference.

Night Baseball Off Giants' List

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—Al Jolson, who once owned Henry Armstrong, and a party of screen stars are flying from Hollywood in two chartered planes with $50,000 to shoot on Henry.

Just before the Seabiscuit-War Admiral match race was called off, a friend offered C. S. Howard, owner of Seabiscuit, three $30 seats to the Louis-Schmeling fight for one reserved seat to the race.

That's how hard ducats were to get, boys.

The Giants will have no part in helping their Brooklyn cousins make a success of night baseball.

Tommy Farr, who sings about as well as he fights, is under contract to make six records in England . . . Also, Jack Doyle, the Irish thrush, is being built up for a late July fight with Tommy.

PEPPER ON BLOCK

So announced Joe Gould as he returned from London, minus what Mushky Jackson termed "his monocycle" . . . Would Pepper Martin, sole survivor of the St. Louis Gas House Gang, like to be sold or traded away from the banks of the Mississippi? . . . Some say yes.

Old Jack Blackburne, who trains Joe Louis, picks Ross to murder Armstrong . . . Quite a lightweight in his day, Jack ranks Barney among the greatest three 135-pounders of all time, including Joe Gans and Benny Leonard.

Leonard, by the way, has shifted from Armstrong to Ross . . . Ercole Buratti and Italo Colonello, Italian boxers, always converse in French because they come from towns in Italy where different dialects are spoken . . . Italo can speak six languages.

GIANTS HUNTING

The Dallas Steers are hoping to get some place in the Texas League with a Mize and a Dykes in the line-up . . . Henry Armstrong has gone in for free verse in a big way . . . Giants are still on a quiet hunt for a second sacker to fill in until Whitehead gets back.

Resume Auto Speed Trials

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25 (AP)—At least a dozen drivers were ready today to battle for the nineteen remaining places in the starting line-up for the Indianapolis 500-mile Memorial Day speedway race.

Qualification trials were to be resumed at 1 p. m. this afternoon and continue until 7 p. m.

Two of the drivers, who had their cars "ready," were former winners of the classic. They were "Wild Bill" Cummings of Indianapolis and Kelly Petillo, of Los Angeles, the wild driving Italian, who twice has had a new track record in his grasp only to stop short of the 25 miles.

Petillo and Jimmy Snyder, the former Chicago milkman, each have made two qualifying attempts and must complete their 25 mile jaunts on their next attempts if they are to start the race. They probably will not attempt to exceed 121 miles an hour in their final trials.

Speedway officials continued to insist there would be a full field for the start of this years' race. They based their claims, however, in the belief that the three cars built by Harry Miller, veteran race car designer, would be ready to qualify before the deadline.

All three cars boast radical changes in race car construction. Two of them have radiators and gasoline tanks on the sides and one of them is a rear motor, four-wheel drive creation with the radiators on the side.

Others who thought they would be ready included: George Connor of San Bernardino, Cal.; Al Miller of Detroit, Frank Wearne of Pasadena, Cal.; Billy Devore of St. John, Kan.; Louis Tomei of Portland, Ore.; Emil Andres of Chicago, Shorty Cantlon of Detroit, Chet Gardner of Long Beach, Cal.; Tony Willman of Milwaukee and Al Putnam of Los Angeles.

Proper Stance Vital to Youth, Grove Advises

number of times, since many runners hold the theory that a pitcher will look once or twice, but rarely a third time, so that they will often take advantage of such a habit to get a running start.

Take a third or even a fourth look once in a while, and sometimes you will catch one of these "smarties" just as he is making his getaway.

In any event keep the runners close to the bases, since nothing makes a catcher so furious as lax watching of the bases by the pitcher.

Our first concern when a new man joins a rival team is to experiment with him until we find his weakness. And once it is found the news travels around the league like wildfire, since there is a certain free masonry among pitchers, who exchange batting secrets with each other for mutual benefit.

Here is a useful rule that is used frequently by veteran pitchers. When in doubt pitch low outside or high inside. Those are the two spots in which a batter is least likely to meet the ball squarely.

Watch how the batter stands in the box—whether far away from the plate or near; whether forward in the box or well back toward the rear. Size him up!

Is he tall with long arms or stocky with short ones?

How does he hold his bat—well down at the handle or halfway up with what baseball men call a "choke hold"?

All these things mean something to a pitcher.

If a batter crowds the plate, throw a fast one on the inside which, if he hits it, will strike the handle of his bat and probably do no damage.

Try to tease your batter who stands far away from the plate or deep in the batter's box with a slow curve that breaks on the outside corner.

Mix them up for the long-handle swinger, trying to catch him off his natural stride by throwing different speeds to him.

As a general rule keep the ball low as far on the inside of the plate as you can to the long swinger.

Another interesting article by Lefty Grove will appear in these pages tomorrow.

EIGHT STRAIGHT FOR LEFTY

While the Bees were picking up another win at home, your traveling box made more history as the one and only Lefty Grove hung up number eight in his victory string. Another good friend of Wheaties, Jimmy Foxx took the heart out of Tigers' fans as he whammed his ninth four-bagger to lead the league sluggers.

See you at National League Park today and tomorrow.

Condition is a prime requisite in an athlete's career. About Wheaties Lefty Grove says: "Here's a food that's recommended for our training diet and that really tastes great. Start eating Wheaties every morning. You'll be glad you took my advice."

With milk or cream, and your favorite fruit, WHEATIES make a real "Breakfast of Champions."

Lynch to Ride At Agawam

ACE SIGNS WITH BRUSIE

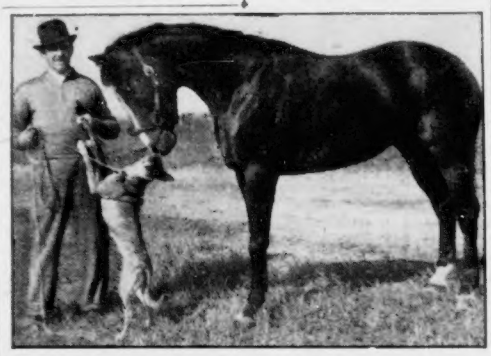
SPRINGFIELD, May 25—Jimmy Lynch of Albany, N. Y., one of the outstanding jockeys in the land, has signed a contract to ride for Lyman Brusie of Hartford, crack trainer, at the Agawam Park meeting which is to start Saturday.

Lynch will have the leg up on Guy Fawkes in the Agawam Handicap, five and one half furlongs feature of opening day.

The flashy thoroughbred, which is owned by A. C. Norris of Ballston Spa, N. Y., can run on any kind of a track, as he proved at Narragansett last year when he won by six lengths in the mud and came back to win by eight leagths on a fast track.

It was the capable Lynch who booted him to four important victories last year, and brought him home third in the Stuyvesant Handicap in New York.

'I'll Meet You After The Race'



Patsy Muhl, lovable mongrel, has a kiss for Flying Mint, son of Flying Ebony, former Kentucky Derby winner. Flying Mint will compete in the 33-day Agawam meeting which opens Saturday. The horse and dog are the best of pals.

"Smoothest Whiskey I Ever Made"

—says JULIUS KESSLER

During his 60 years in the whiskey business, Julius Kessler produced many of the most famous brands in America.

Speaking of his Private Blend, Mr. Kessler says: "It's the best whiskey I have ever made—bar none!"

A strong statement—but Kessler's Private Blend backs it up. For Kessler's is smooth and mellow—with a mighty pleasant feeling going down.

Ouimet Out Of Golf Tilt

TROON, Scotland, May 25 (AP)—Johnny Goodman of Omaha, U. S. amateur champion and Walker Cup player, today defeated Albert W. Briscoe, Irish internationalist, 6 and 5, to lead the surviving Americans into the fourth round of the British amateur golf championship.

Goodman was followed into the round of 32 by Charles (Chuck) Koosis, former intercollegiate champion from Detroit, who scored at 4 and 3 over John S. Montgomerie of Britain.

The U. S. ranks sustained their second loss of the day when Walker Cup Captain Francis Ouimet of Boston lost, one up, to big Cecil Ewing, a member of the British team in 1936.

Jocelyn Walker of Britain defeated Reynolds Smith of the United States, 2 up, today in their second-round match, while Fred Haas, the American Walker Cupper from Baton Rouge, La., eliminated Dr. D. J. MacCormack of England, 7 and 7.

Charlie Yates, of Atlanta, Ga., won two matches to advance into the fourth round of the British amateur golf championship.

After eliminating Frank Pennink, of England, in the second round, 3 and 2, Yates put out S. P. Morrison, of England, by 5 and 4.

Ouimet's surprising defeat in his match with Ewing was presaged at the finish of the first nine, where the Boston veteran trailed by one down, with a 37 to Ewing's par 36.

SEE-SAW MATCH

On the fourth hole he climbed all the way to a surprising six, two over par, his difficulty starting when he sliced his second into the rough, fell short with his approach, then finally missed a two-foot putt. Ewing missed a chance to increase his lead on the eighth when he muffed a three-fot putt, halving the hole in even part three, instead of picking up a birdie.

Ouimet came home with a 40 for and 18-hole 77 against Ewings 75.

The cards:

OUT—
Ouimet	4	4	4	6	3	5	4	3	4	—37
Ewing	4	4	4	5	3	5	3	3	5	—36
IN—
Ouimet	4	4	4	5	4	4	5	5	5	—40—77
Ewing	5	5	4	4	3	3	5	6	4	4—36—75

By playing the part four 10th in even figures, Ouimet managed to even the match—one of the closest all the way to develop so far—and through the last nine, the lead repeatedly changed hands with neither able to get more than a one-up lead until Ewing finally did it on the payoff hole.

Indifferent iron play on the 13th and 14th cost Ouimet those two holes and a one-up edge he had gained on the 11th. However, Ewing three-putted the 15th and the match was again squared and the stage set for Ouimet to regain the lead on the 16th. The match was squared again on the 17th, where both failed to reach the green with their tee shots, Ouimet taking a five, two over par, and Ewing a four. Ewing then ended the match on the 18th where he holed a seven-foot putt and Ouimet missed a 10-footer.

Veterans Honor Clarence De Mar

Clarence De Mar—seven-time winner of the B. A. A. Marathon race, and nationally recognized as the "Father of Marathons," will receive high honors on Friday evening in the Y. D. Club, 200 Huntington avenue, when in the presence of hundreds of his wartime comrades he will be crowned with the famous laurel wreath, plucked from the "hills of Acroplis," by former Rep. George Demeter.

It will be a big night for the great runner, who served his country overseas during the World War as a member of the 301st Infantry, 76th Division, A. E. F., his 50th birthday party.

Jones' Team Wins Exhibition Match

WASHINGTON, May 25 (INS)—Golfing's Robert T. (Bobby) Jones and Justice's Homer S. Cummings today held a 3 and 2 victory over Attys. Robert J. Whiteford and John E. McClure following an exhibition match at the Congressional Country Club.

Cotton Sings Praise of Fred Haas

TROON, Scotland, May 25 (AP)—Henry Cotton, British open champion, today picked Freddie Haas of New Orleans as the finest swinger on the United States Walker Cup team, as the Louisiana youngster became fourth favorite to win the British amateur golf title.

"He certainly is the most orthodox swinger of the lot," Henry said, "and down in that lower bracket he may go far."

Haas, built vaguely like a driving iron, is so slim he has trouble standing steady in the seaside gale. But if the weather moderates he will take some beating.

He is a subject of much discussion because of the huge Louisiana State varsity "L" which adorns his sweater. That letter, in this country, is given to people learning to drive automobiles, but judging from his game Haas is no learner. The Scots can't figure it out.

The critics are not so impressed however by Billows and Ward, and, despite his victory over Fischer, they are not particularly fond of Yates.

Lee Wyckoff

Wins Suit

WICHITA, Kas., May 25 (AP)—Lee Wyckoff, one of many claimants to the world heavyweight wrestling championship, seated himself in the witness chair.

"If you're going to get anywhere in the wrestling game you have to put on a good show. If I had to depend on my wrestling ability alone, my drawing power would be almost nil," the 225-pounder testified. Spectators gasped.

"You must have ability, sure, but you must know something about showmanship. You can either try to make people like you or make them hate you. Personally, I prefer to make them hate me.

"I may act mad in the ring when as a matter of fact I'm biting my tongue to keep from laughing."

Wyckoff's testimony helped him win a $10,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Loraine Powell, who charged the wrestler injured her in a scuffle at a mat show here last November. Wyckoff countered that he merely pushed her away as she attempted to strike him as he left the ring.

Verry-Beard MatchMagnet

By BILL GRIMES

Out at the Oakley Country Club tomorrow morning, the Central and Midland teams are playing off for the 18th annual Women's Golf Association of Massachusetts district championship.

At the close of the regular ten match series, Central, the defending champion, and Midland had won eight and lost two matches.

Frances E. Stebbins, who is secretary of the W. G. A., selected Oakley for the play offs.

In the 10th round, Central District nosed out Middlesex, 5 to 4, but Midland kept pace by beating Northern by the same score.

Mrs. Warren Beard

The feature match of tomorrow's play offs will be the battle between Deborah Verry, state champion, and Mrs. Warren Beard, extitliat. Miss Verry and Mrs. Beard were in the finals of the W. G. A. state championship a year ago at The Country Club, and the former walked off with the title.

With the 1938 W. G. A. state championship qualifying round to be played one week from tomorrow at Belmont Country Club, the Verry-Beard match will be a pre-view from which the all-knowing ones may acquire some worthwhile information.

Due to the fact that some of the first varsity haven't been winning consistently, there'll be a few changes in the Central and Midland line ups.

Simpson Cleared; Dolan Trial Delayed

Curley Aid Linked to Jury Check

Harold Simpson of Brookline, one of three defendants on trial with Edmund L. Dolan on contempt of court charges growing out of alleged attempts at "jury-fixing," was cleared today in superior court.

Discharge of Simpson by Judge Frederick W. Fosdick left Dolan, J. Walter Quinn and Robert Dinsmore still on trial—with the cases of Dolan and Quinn rested.

Dinsmore's case is still open until Attorney Robert Gallagher, named by Dolan as one of those frequenting the now famous Hotel Statler suite where the attempted jury fixing is alleged to have occurred, can be located to testify.

Meanwhile the case adjourned shortly after noon for the day and 11 a. m. tomorrow was set as the time for the beginning of final arguments.

As the last defense witness, except possibly Gallagher, Dolan admitted under cross-examination today he had communicated with Joseph Fucillo, ex-Gov. James M. Curley's former chauffeur, with reference to jurors, who might have been drawn for a previous case with Dolan a defendant.

Fucillo is now on the state barbers' commission.

"I talked with him about the jury list in general," testified Dolan.

Dolan said he asked Fucillo to look over both jury lists, civil and criminal, but Fucillo said he did not know anyone named on the lists and could give Dolan no information.

Again today Assistant District Attorney Doyle pounded Dolan on a telephone call the defendant admitted making from the Statler suite to Thomas Butler with reference to Alexander Rose, whose name appeared on the jury list.

Dolan repeated yesterday's admission that he was checking up

Czechs Send Apology To Hitler

PRAGUE, May 25 (INS)—Czechoslovakia, admitting the incidents, today apologized for a series of military flights over German soil.

Following a protest from Berlin, Foreign Minister Kamil Krofta informed German Minister Ernst Eisenlohr that the Prague government "regretted" the flights over the bristling frontier.

The government, said Krofta, "has done everything to prevent any future recurrences."

Berlin Warns Prague On Border Incidents
